

BUSINESS SHOWS LITTLE CHANGE

Warm Weather Continues in the East, Which Prevents Sale of Heavy Wearing Apparel.

BUILDING BOOM GOES ON

THE RAILWAYS REPORT HEAVY EARNINGS.

New York, Jan. 26.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade will say tomorrow:

No change appears in the business situation, weather conditions favoring outdoor work, but causing accumulation of heavyweight wearing apparel. Labor discussions are not all settled, but there is little serious interruption on this account. Railway earnings thus far available for January show an increase of 13.0 per cent over last year's, while foreign commerce at this port for the last week exhibits a gain of $1,411,730 in exports and a loss of $2,359,578 in imports as compared with the movement in the corresponding week of 1905. In the high market, natives were freely offered at a decline of about half a cent.

Failures this week numbered 334 in the United States against 335 last year, and 40 in Canada compared with 43 a year ago.

Bradstreet's Report.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Barring a touch of cold weather in the west the season still retains its previous appearance of a mild, open winter, with natural effects upon trade, industrial operations in general and prices of many commodities, which tend downward. Perhaps the most notable feature in building is the continued activity in building, which has practically gone on without a break and which is making new records in prices of lumber and in demand for other materials. Needed snow covering is reported in many parts of the winter wheat belt, heretofore bare, and reports come from Texas and California as the result of recent heavy rains. The cold following the storm seems to have done no harm in the section affected. Raw wool is steady, with more inquiry and confidence based upon London prices. The railways report an excellent business. Reports of the leading roads for the first half of January are the best of which there is record, showing a gain of nearly 15 per cent over last year.

The failures in the United States for the week ending Jan. 25, numbered 334, against 335 last week, in the like week of 1905; 342 in 1904, 320 in 1903 and 303 in 1902. In Canada failures for the week number 33, against 36 last week and 45 this week a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending Jan. 25, numbered 334, against 335 last week, in the like week of 1905; 342 in 1904, 320 in 1903 and 303 in 1902. In Canada failures for the week number 33, against 36 last week and 45 this week a year ago.

GET TEN YEARS IN SHORT ORDER

Two Young Burglars Plead Guilty and They Are Quickly Sentenced.

CASE OF THIRD POSTPONED

CITY LOSES SUIT ON STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

George Young and Frank Morris are able to say that Utah justice is not slow in three days' time they have passed from freedom to the penitentiary with ten years of confinement ahead of them. The young men were arrested while attempting to break into the home of J. D. Wood, 305 East South Temple street, Jan. 25. Judge Diehl bound them over to the district court yesterday morning and they were brought before Judge Armstrong in the afternoon.

Both entered pleas of guilty to attempted burglary in the first degree and said they did not desire counsel. Judge Armstrong made a few brief remarks on the nature of the case and concluded by imposing a sentence of ten years at hard labor on each man.

They were taken to the penitentiary yesterday afternoon. Gus Johnson, alias Frank Martin, is another young man whose case was acted upon promptly. He was arrested in the home of Dune MacVie Thursday night, and confessed that he had entered the home of Henry Newell the night before.

Judge Diehl bound him over yesterday morning and he was brought before Judge Armstrong in the afternoon. Johnson said he desired counsel, and the court appointed attorney Harry S. Harper. Johnson took until Monday to enter his plea. It is said he is not yet 18 years of age and an effort will be made to get him off with a sentence to the reformatory.

Two dress suit cases filled with silverware valued at $300 were taken from the Pacific Express company office last night by Chief of Police George A. Sheets, which had been shipped from San Francisco to Salt Lake by the express. A "person" was found the express ticket, and yesterday his suit cases arrived. Martin admits that the silverware was intended to dispose of it here. It consisted of knives and forks, vases, napkin rings and numerous other articles.

RULES AGAINST KESLER.

Court Holds That Failure to Sign Contract Causes Loss.

In a few words, Judge Armstrong yesterday decided in favor of the defendant in the case of Alonzo Kesler against L. E. Casady, which had been pending in the district court for twelve years. The suit was brought to enforce the performance of a contract whereby Casady agreed to buy certain real estate and place it in Casady's hands for disposal. Casady failed to make the sale and Kesler sued for $433.33, the amount he had paid toward the purchase of the property. Casady moved from Salt Lake several years ago and the case did not come to trial until last week, when Casady came here from Oregon to defend a suit filed against him by his brother, E. E. Casady. Kesler hastened to secure service on him and the case was heard before Judge Armstrong, who took his decision yesterday.

The court holds that the contract was not mutual, as it was signed by Casady only, who agreed to pay Kesler the price of the property, if the sale was not made, and also agreed to take the land over Kesler's hands. The fact that Kesler had never signed the contract and lack of consideration were also factors that aided in establishing the case for the defendant.

FOR ATTACKING SISTER.

Minerva Reeves is Bound Over to the District Court.

Minerva Reeves was bound over to the district court under a bond of $1,000 for assault with intent to kill by Judge J. J. Whitaker yesterday. The complaining witness in the case was Minerva's sister, the defendant. Resentment over Minerva's expressed scorn for two Greek friends of the district, coupled with a remark that Minerva was "lady," would no longer associate with "dirty, low, degraded Greeks," is supposed to have led to the trouble. Minerva fired a revolver at her sister several days later. The bullet missed Minerva's head by about a foot.

The trouble took place in a disreputable house, where the sisters were inmates.

CITY IS THE LOSER.

Ordered to Pay D. B. Hempstead Damages.

Salt Lake City owes David B. Hempstead $7,495.48 for damages to his property along North Main street, according to a verdict returned in Judge Ritchie's court yesterday. The jury brought in a verdict for $6,500 with interest from Nov. 21, 1904, which brings the total to the amount named.

Mr. Hempstead sued for $30,000. Changes in the street grades whereby the street was filled in, placing his house below the street level, constituted the basis of the action.

Court Grants Divorces.

Judge Morse yesterday granted divorces to Nana Alexander from Lawrence Alexander on the grounds of desertion and non-support; to Caroline Upah from Frank Upah, on the grounds of drunkenness and non-support; to Blanche Connor from Albert E. Connor, on the grounds of desertion and non-support, and to Emma Muhlfeld from Milchor Muhlfeld on the ground of cruelty.

Court Notes.

The jury in the federal court in the case of Ernest Oliver vs. the Bingham Consolidated Mining & Smelter company returned a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $2,000.

The burglary charges against C. E. Joseph and W. E. Graham were dismissed. Alexander of District Attorney F. C. Leebourne, yesterday, on the ground of insufficiency of evidence.

SURVIVORS OF THE VALENCIA

leg around the block and was hauled aboard.

"I felt terrible about the loss of my boat and the men, but did all I could afterward to get the raft safely away with eighteen men on board."

"I have a father, sister and two brothers in San Francisco, and a married sister, Mrs. R. D. Rogers, in Seattle, and will be glad when they know that I am safe."

Terrible Experience.

"If we had been an hour longer on the raft I believe even now we would have gone insane," said Joseph McCaffrey, one of the men on the raft and who came here on the Topeka. One could tell by the looks in the eyes of his companions that reason was departing. Just touch one of the men and they would growl like some trapped animal.

"I was pulling on one of the oars with a poor fellow whose strength was about exhausted. He would work like mad for a few moments and then his head would drop on his breast and his hands would relax their grasp."

"Keep on working," I would urge. "If you want to get out of this and reach the ship, pull, for God's sake, pull."

"Then he would rise again to the task and in that manner succeeded in reaching the boat crew from the Topeka."

"There were two or three men on the raft who kept up the spirit of their companions by cheering them on and holding every hope of rescue with a short time."

"When we sighted the boat putting away from the Topeka one fellow on the raft broke forth to song. But the words died in his throat—his heart was too full. I don't know the words of that song he attempted. I was too stupefied to remember."

Last to Go Down.

Sixty-one persons are believed to have been on board the Valencia when she broke up. The list, which does not include those who had been drowned before the wreck, went down, follows:

W. Holmes, first officer.
A. Aberg, fourth officer.
W. Downing, chief engineer.
E. E. Hopkins, second freight clerk.
J. H. Hoddinot, chief steward.
N. H. Campbell, second steward.
W. Wilkins, barkeeper.
Mrs. Musgrove, stewardess.
Hughes, porter.

Eight women, names unknown; three children and forty men, names unknown.

SEARCH FOR SURVIVORS.

Only Thirty-Seven Men Known to Have Reached Shore Alive.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 26.—Systematic patrols are being organized in Barclay sound and parties of Indians sent to the different islands in the hope of finding other survivors of the Valencia disaster. Since the discovery of the survivors of the second life raft on Turret island the fishing launch Shamrock has been cruising among the islands to the entrance to the sound which are in the way of the current settling from the scene of the disaster. And the settlers of Uclulet peninsula, near where the Pass of the islands was lost, are scouring the beach also. Up to this morning the search for the missing waiter, Frank, who was lost in the bush of Turret island after landing from the raft with the thirty survivors now at Toquart has been unsuccessful. The search of fishing station has been unsuccessful. Indians are continuing the search. The wrecked steamer Salvor left for Toquart this morning and will take the survivors on board, so that the search on the shore can attend to them. Unfortunately Dr. McLean of Uclulet was absent from that village.

Five Bodies Located.

It is expected that the greater number of bodies will be found on the islands of Barclay sound as the tide and current will carry them to the westward from the scene of the wreck now breaking into fragments and scattering debris along the coast line. But five bodies have been located until this morning, and one entirely nude, had been seen in the surf, but not recovered. The survivors who were at the Darling Creek telegraph station, and suffering severely from the privations endured, left there this morning with a party of rescuers from the steamer Princess May, who joined the Salvor's company when she left here. Another party, which is accompanied by an Associated Press correspondent, left Bamfield this morning to meet them, taking supplies and boats for the unfortunate men, many of whom are barefooted and will suffer terribly in consequence as they make their way over the rough trail.

Unless some survivors are found on floating wreckage, a small hope it is not expected that more than the 37 men now accounted for will survive the disaster which involved the loss of 117 people.

List of Survivors.

The following arrived today on the steamer Topeka:

C. Allison, passenger, 619 Gaultier street, St. Paul.
J. Johnson, third cook, 115 Russ street, San Francisco.
G. L. Willis, passenger, 1044 Indiana street, San Francisco.
W. Raymond, messman, 1548 South street, San Francisco.
P. Polver, fireman, 26 Essex street, San Francisco.
G. T. Harraden, passenger, 4194 South Main street, Los Angeles.
M. Earrey, quartermaster, 1096 Main street, San Francisco.
P. V. O'Brien, waiter, 235 Stevenson street, San Francisco.
K. F. Carrick, first assistant engineer, 1505 Sanchez street, San Francisco.
W. D. Johnson, coal passer, 2495 Pine street, San Francisco.
C. Fluhme, baker, Winchester hotel, San Francisco.
J. Segalos, fireman, 604 Third street, San Francisco.
F. Leh, first assistant freight clerk, 6 Dubose street, San Francisco.
James McGaffrey, passenger, West St. John, N. B.
J. Walch, waiter, 26 Chattanooga street, San Francisco.
A. W. Hawkins, passenger, 814 Fourth avenue, North Seattle.
J. Hoddinot, waiter, 1918 Leavenworth street, San Francisco.
Peter Peterson, second officer, 1127 Twentieth street, San Francisco.

Landed From Life Boats.

At Cape Beale landed from lifeboat: T. McCarthy, boatswain; G. W. Brown, sailor; T. Shields, sailor; I. Marks, sailor; T. Lampen, sailor.

At Telegraph hut, landed from lifeboat: F. F. Bunker of San Francisco, recently named assistant superintendent of schools, Seattle, who lost wife and two daughters; J. Ritchey, fireman;

Charles Samuel first class passenger, bound for Seattle; Mike Howe, second class passenger, bound for Seattle; R. Brown, second class passenger; Yosui Hosoda, Japanese from Oakland; T. J. Campbell, Alameda; B. N. Ledhas, fireman; A. Willis, second class passenger bound for Spokane.

At Toquart, from Turret Island: F. Hammock, chief cook; M. Stansley, fireman; George Long, fireman. One man, name unknown, remains on island.

This makes thirty-seven in all, none women or children. Two men and a boy are reported to have been seen at a camp fire on the beach near Klane-wak. When a tug approached shore they made no effort to come down to her. It is not known whether or not they are from the Valencia.

ENGULFED BY GREAT WAVE.

Party on Shore Witnessed Destruction of the Valencia.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 26.—Advice to the Associated Press from Cape Beale report communication has been held with Lieut. Logan's party which went by the laid trails to the wreck on the 23d. This party was eye-witnesses of the awful sight when the ship wrecked people were clinging to the rigging as seen from seaward by the steamer Queen, and could do nothing to help the perished who were swept to death before their eyes.

The wreck lay fifteen yards from the bluff. When they reached the top of this bluff on the morning of Wednesday they could plainly see the people clinging to the rigging and others huddled on the top deck.

Those on the ship cheered wildly when they saw the parties on shore, thinking their rescuers had come. Impotent, the party stood watching while the waves swept the people from the rigging, and about 12 o'clock noon that day an immense wave struck the wreck and crushed everything to pieces.

Everybody was at once swept to destruction from the steamer, while the would-be rescuers watched from shore unable to do anything to avert the awful thing.

Nine bodies were recovered up to noon today. The bodies of four men were picked up this morning. None have been identified. The Associated Press correspondent with the party says he hopes to secure the names of the victims recovered before night.

The shore parties are strewn with all kinds of liquor, claret, port wine, champagne and whisky. About 100 kegs have been washed upon the beaches. Sixty of them are unbroken, also great quantities of olive oil, canned and fresh fruit, vegetables, etc.

MONEY COULD NOT SAVE.

Rich Alaska Miner Lost With His Bag of Gold.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 26.—Among those who are supposed to have perished when the Valencia went to pieces was J. B. Graham, a passenger, and with him went a bag containing $1500 in gold. Survivors of the wreck say that Graham frantically offered the bag of gold to any one who would place him on shore. But the others paid but little heed to the pleadings of the man, and his gold lay on the broken deck, kicked under foot, no one bothering to even pick it up.

"It was a time when gold would not buy what was wanted," said one of the survivors, as he related the story and watched the twinkling lights of the Seattle water front as the vessel drew into her dock in the early hours of the morning.

"I'm coming into a safe harbor without a cent. Why, then, this shirt I have on belongs to another man, and I have not even a hat. But that bag of gold, or this ship loaded with bullion, wouldn't tempt me into such a place again."

Graham recently sold a mine in Alaska for $50,000.

LOOK OUT FOR CONTAGION

State Board of Health Issues Warning to Physicians to Be Careful.

A copy of the following self-explanatory letter has been sent to each health officer in the state by the state board of health. The warning to the public at large is called to this matter. Many deaths have occurred through contagious diseases. The appearance and existence of contagious diseases have been given little consideration by many of the health officers and as a result have spread and claimed many more victims than they would have proper attention been paid to the prevention of their spreading.

The letter follows:

"The reports of deaths from scarlet fever and measles indicate the extensive prevalence of those diseases in a severe form, and the necessity for the most rigid enforcement of preventive measures. It is discretionary with the health officer or board of health to quarantine persons affected with measles; and it is recommended that a report of all cases shall be required and quarantine enforced for a period of not less than two weeks. Every effort should be made to educate the public to recognize that measles and whooping cough are highly contagious complaints as ordinarily regarded. Whooping cough especially, of which there are many cases existing in the state, is a very serious disease both as to mortality and intensity after-effects; and the law requires that all cases shall be promptly reported and quarantined. It is the duty of health officers to strictly enforce this law.

"An unusually large number of deaths from pneumonia occurred during the month. This disease is steadily increasing throughout the state and demands the most earnest attention of all health officers. It should be remembered that the law requires the report of pneumonia. The disease is infectious, and the room occupied by the patient should be disinfected in the same manner as in other infectious diseases. Especial care should be taken to disinfect or destroy all expectation from pneumonia for the reason that it contains the infective organisms."
